PROJECT DESCRIPTION IN MOTHER TONGUE

RO Descrierea proiectului în limba maternă HU A projekt leírása a pályázó anyanyelvén SRB Opis projekta na maternjem jeziku

Višegodišnja fasciniranost ovim trajno-privremenim stanjem, ogojenim medu-prostom i dugim trenutkom, rezultirala je u zavidnoj kolekciji. Osim motiva koji se ponavlja na fasadama, ove fotografije beleži i kontinuiranu transformaciju grada, razgradnju, zaglavljenošću i privremenost. Neka rušenja otvaraju neslućene vizure, uzbuđljive prilike da se zaviri u inače zatvorena dvorišta, čak i potencijal praznine. Radost zbog opaženog dreveta ili dvorišta koje je i dalje zeleno umesto da je postalo parking - samo zahvaljujući tome što nema koliski prolaz do njega. Raspredjene, naročito poželjnijim i centralnih gradskih lokacija otvaraju i sukobe novih i starih motiva i materijala (valjkovima dekorisane zidove, tršku, opeku sa pećatom - koja nakon rušenja i preprodaje putuje u svoj novi zapadnoevropski život - odmah pored siporeks blokova, kupatilišta pličica u hodniku i dr.). Negativna storija građenja i razvoja grada vidi se u jednostavnoj različiti stilizaciji grada kada se želi u istom prizoru i na maloj potazu kreiraju utbildjive razalednice. Vidljive sarađuju dok je tu rupa, a samijene stropoprotom. Ova serija prikazuje i situacije koje kao da nisu smele imati svedoke. Kao tabu, izlazak privatnog u prostor javnog, zgrade u donjem vešu, a na ulici. To su i prizori uništenja, pokidanjan veza, bivših komšija. Kao ožiljci na koži grada, rupa u osmehu. Iskustvo nikada završenih trotoara ispred useljenih zgrada i napuštenih projekata nekome može izazvati nemir - da li će i ova nova rupa biti zauvek ove? Ili će brzo biti sagradena neka nova zgrada, sa simboličnim terasama, bez parkingu i zelenila. Naviknutost na polu-prostote, polu-završeno, polu-stanja stvorila je određenu rezilijentnost kod građana i ipak pomaze u mirnom suživotu sa ovim rupama, sršenim objektima i njihovim tragovima na susednim zidovima, jer neki zaista zauvek ostanu tako, vremenom menjaju boju i požute, kada da uveru. Zbog ovih trajnih privremenih scena, grad postaje simulakrum, Potemkinovo selo, filmski set ili pozorišna kušica koja će biti razmontirana kad se ugase svetla i publike ode. Ali neko ostaje da živi tu, iza izolacije. Zato ove slike prikazuju i stavove - nevažnosti kvaliteta života, nepoznavanje i nemogućnost zamisljavanja boljeg grada ... Život u jednoličnijim i nebitnim novim zgradićima, u sendviču pretankog stropoprotora, jer se štede. Ova ogoljost, naročito posle dugo stajanja, emituje i neku ranjivost i protlanost. I jednu izvestnost i stalnost - promene.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION IN ENGLISH

Years long fascination with this temporary-permanent state, exposed in-between spaces and long moments, resulted in immense collection. Beside the motif that repeats at the facades, photos capture continuous city transformation, unbuilding, and stuckness in temporality. Some demolitions expose unexpected vistas, exciting opportunities to peek into usually closed yards, to grasp the potential of emptiness. The joy due to a spotted tree or garden that is still green instead becoming parking. Rapid changes, particularly desired and central city locations expose also clashes between new and old motifs and materials (decorated walls, old bricks that are resolved to start a new West European life - just next to siropex blocks, bath tiles used for corridors etc.). Sometimes one can see the city's history and development in one frame: different styles and epochs coexisted in the same scene on a small area create exciting postcards. Visible only while there is the hole, framed by styrofoam. This serial also shows situations that are like taboo, traversal of private life in the public realm, buildings in neglige. Scenes of destruction, broken relationships, former neighbours. Like scars on the skin of the city, holes in the smile. Experience of never finished sidewalks in front of the already inhabited buildings and abandoned projects can cause unrest - will this new hole stay here forever? Will some new building erupt here fast, with symbolic terraces, without parking and greenery? Being used to half-spaces, half-finished, semi-states creates certain resiliency with citizens and helps to live peacefully with these holes, torn down objects and their traces at neighbouring objects, because some of them stay that way forever, just change colour through time, becoming yellow like withered. Because of these permanent temporary scenes, The City becomes a simulacrum, Potemkin village, movie or theatre set to be dismantled as the lights go off and the audience leave. But, somebody stays here, to live behind isolation. Thus, these photos show attitudes - irrelevance for living quality, unawareness and impossibility to imagine a better city .. life in monotonous and unimportant new buildings, in a sandwich of too thin styrofoam, because thin was cheaper. This bareness, particularly after long exposure, emits also some vulnerability and transience. And only certainty and constancy - of change.
